DISTRIBUTION OF STATE ROAD AID

THIRTEEN COUNTIES TO DRAW FULL ALLOWANCE BASED ON 1914 ASSESSMENT.

ESTIMATE IS JUST COMPLETED

Estimated Road Fund is $558,220—Figures Are Prepared by State Commissioner Terrell.

(Special Frankfort Correspondence.)

Frankfort—Thirteen counties will draw the full amount allowed by law out of the state road fund this year, $10,164, according to estimate just completed by Commissioner of Roads R. C. Terrell. It is based upon the 1914 assessments and less, excepting in a few instances where failure of the counties to report made it necessary to use the 1912 returns. The counties which will draw the full 2 per cent; are completely in the hands of the allies. Trenches here, it is reported, were "choked with German dead."

In the forest of Monsmare, it is claimed, fifteen attacks of the Germans in efforts to retake trenches captured Thursday were repulsed. The reports add that heaps of German bodies lay upon the ground afterward, while in Champagne the Germans were moved down in a similar offensive movement.

The French claim also the capture of 600 feet of ground in the forest of Ailly.

Bombarding St. Mihiel.

The French are incessantly bombarding St. Mihiel, the point of the wedge they are trying to force out, and at the same time are attacking the two sides of the wedge with infantry and artillery in an endeavor to reach the roads which lead from St. Mihiel to Metz. If the progress already is as great as the French claim it to be, these roads should now be within reach of the French guns.

Death of Mrs. J. R. Reynolds.

A death which has cast a pall over the entire city is that of Mrs. J. R. Reynolds, which occurred on Sunday night at 10 o'clock, as the result of uremic poison. She was taken to the P. A. C. Infirmary, Thursday, where she gave birth to a baby boy, who died and was buried Friday. Everything that tender, loving care could do was done for her, but in vain and she sank rapidly to the end. Mrs. Reynolds had been in the community only a short while, but in that time had endeared herself to all by her kind, gentle disposition and charming character. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Baptist church, and was conducted by Dr. Porter, of Lexington. Many beautiful flowers were sent by the church, individual friends and the family. The body was taken on the 5 o'clock train to her old home in West Virginia, accompanied by her husband and children, her mother and one sister. To the grief-stricken family, all hearts go out in tender sympathy.

Mr. Hall was a student of President Wm. G. Frost when he was president of Oberlin College, in Ohio, and in appreciation of his former instructor's work, desired to help the institution of which Dr. Frost is now the head.

HOW TO CURE A CHRONIC COUGH

Told in the Following Letter by a Jackson Man, Who Knows from Experience.

His Word is Good.

Jackson, Miss.—"I am a carpenter, and the gripe left me not only with a chronic cough, but I was run down, worn out and weak. I took all kinds of cough syrup, but they did me no good. I was so bad that I could not work, do a day's work, and coughed so much I was alarmed about my condition. One evening I read about Vinal and decided to try it. Before I had taken a quarter of a bottle I felt better, and after taking two bottles the cough was entirely gone. All the bad symptoms have disappeared, and I have gained new vim and energy."—John L. Dennis, 711 Lynch Street, Jackson, Miss.

The reason Vinal is so successful in curing chronic cough is because the active medicinal principles of coal-tar oil contained in Vinal rebuild wasted tissues and supplies strength and vigor to the nerves and muscles while the tonic iron and wine assist the red corpuscles of the blood to carry oxygen to the diseased parts through the system, thus restoring health and strength to the weakened, diseased organs of the body.

If Vinal fails to help you, we return your money.

The Exploits of Elaine

A Detective Novel and a Motion Picture Drama

By ARTHUR B. REEVE

The Well-Known Novelist and the Creator of the "Craig Kennedy" Stories

Presented in Collaboration With the Pathé Players and the Electric Film Company

Copyright, 1914, by the Star Company. All Foreign Rights Reserved

SYNOPSIS.

The New York police are mystified by a series of murders and other crimes. The principal clue to the criminal is the way in which he is always writing signed with a "clutching hand." The latest victim of the mysterious assassin is Taylor Dodge, the mysterious assassin. His daughter, Elaine, employs Craig Kennedy, a famous scientific detective, to try to unravel the mystery. What Kennedy accomplishes is told by his friend Jameson, a newspaper man engaged at the detective's office. Craig and Jameson are making to put an end to this strange criminal is known, resorts to all sorts of the most diabolical schemes to put him in the dock. Each chapter of the story tells of a new plot against their lives and of the way the great detective uses all his skill to save this pretty girl and himself from death.

TENTH EPISODE

THE LIFE CURRENT.

Assignments were being given out on the Star one afternoon, and I was standing talking with several other reporters, in the busy hub of type-writers and clicking telegraphs.

"What do you think of that?" asked one of the fellows. "You're something of a scientific detective, aren't you?"

Without laying claim to such a distinction, I took the paper and read:

THE POISONED KISS AGAIN.

Three More New York Women Report Being Kissed by Mysterious Stranger—Later Fell Into Deep Unconsciousness—What Is It?

I had scarcely finished when one of the copy boys, dashing past me, called out: "You're wanted on the wire, Mr. Jameson."

I hurried over to the telephone and answered.

A musical voice responded to my hurried hello, and I hastened to adopt my most polite tone.

"Is this Mr. Jameson?" asked the voice.

"Yes," I replied, not recognizing it. "Well, Mr. Jameson, I've heard of you on the Star, and I've just had a very strange experience. I've had the poisoned kiss."

The woman did not pause to catch my exclamation of astonishment, but went on: "It was like this. A man ran up to me on the street and kissed me—and I don't know how it was—but I became unconscious—and I didn't come to for an hour—in a hospital—fortunately. I don't know what would have happened if it hadn't been that someone came to my assistance and the man fled. I thought the Star would be interested."

"We are," I hastened to reply. "Will you give me your name?"

"Why, I am Mrs. Florence Leigh of No. 20 Prospect avenue," returned the voice.

"Say," I exclaimed, hurrying over to the editor's desk, "here's another woman on the wire who says she has received the poisoned kiss."

"Suppose you take that assignment," the editor answered, sensing a possible story.

I took it with alacrity, figuring out the quickest way by elevated and surface to reach the address.

I must say that I could scarcely criticize the poisoned kiss's taste, for the woman who opened the door certainly was extraordinarily attractive.

"And you really were—put out by a kiss?" I quailed, as she led me into a neat sitting room.

"Absolutely—much as if it had been by one of these poisoned needles you read about," she replied confidently, hastening on to describe the awful voluntary.

It was beyond me.

"May I use your telephone?" I asked.

"Surely," she answered.

I called the laboratory. "Is that you, Craig?" I inquired.

"Yes, Walter," he answered, recognizing my voice.

"Say, Craig," I asked breathlessly, "what sort of kiss would suffocate a person?"

My only answer was an uproarious laugh from him at the idea.

"I know," I persisted, "but I've got the assignment from the Star—and I'm out here interviewing a woman about it. It's all right to laugh—but here I am. I've found a case—names, dates and places. I wish you'd explain the thing, then."

"Oh, all right, Walter," he replied indulgently. "I'll meet you as soon as I can and help you out."

We waited patiently.

"All right, show her in, Jennings. I'll see her."

Elaine moved into the drawing room, springing forward to part the portieres for her and passing through the room quickly where Flirty Florrie sat waiting. Flirty Florrie rose and stood gazing at Elaine, apparently very much embarrassed, even after Jennings had gone.

"It is embarrassing," she said finally, "but Miss Dodge, I have come to you to beg for my love."

Elaine looked at her nonplussed.

"Yes," she continued, "you do not know it, but Craig Kennedy is infatuated with you." She paused again, then added: "But he is engaged to me."

Elaine stared at the woman. She was dazed. She could not believe it.

"There is the ring," Flirty Florrie added, indicating a very impressive paste diamond.

Quickly she reached into her bag and drew out two photographs, without a word, handing them to Elaine.

"There's the proof," Florrie said simply, choking a sob.

Elaine looked with a start. Sure enough, there was the neat living room in the house on Prospect avenue. In one picture Florrie had her arms over Kennedy's shoulders. In the other, apparently, they were passionately kissing.

Elaine slowly laid the photographs

"Craig is certainly a most remarkable case, Craig," I said, introducing him, and telling briefly what I had learned.

"And you actually mean to say that a man has the star?"

Just then the telephone interrupted. "Yes," she reassured quickly. "Excuse me a second."

She answered the call. "Oh—why yes, he's here. Do you want to speak to him? Mr. Jameson, it's the Star."

"Confound it!" I exclaimed. "Isn't that like the old man—dragging me off this story before it's half finished in order to get another. I'll have to go. I'll get this story from you, Craig."

The day before, in the suburban house, the Clutching Hand had been talking to two of his emissaries, an attractive young woman and a man.

They were Flirty Florrie and Dan the Dude.

"Now, I want you to get Kennedy," he said. "The way to do it is to separate Kennedy and Elaine—see?"

"All right, Chief, we'll do it," they replied.

Clutching Hand had scarcely left when Flirty Florrie began by getting published in the papers the story which I had seen.

The next day she called me up from the suburban house, saying got me to promise to see her, she had suddenly turned from the telephone when Dan the Dude walked in from the next room.

"He's coming," she said.

Dan was carrying a huge stag head with a beautifully bronched pair of antlers. Under his arm was a coil of wire which he had connected to the inside of the head.

"Fine!" he exclaimed. Then, pointing to the head, he added, "he's all ready. See how I fixed it? That ought to please the Chief."

Dan moved quickly to the mantel and mounted a stepladder there by which he had taken down the head, and started to replace the head above the mantel.

He hooked the head on a nail.

"There," he said, uncurling one of the beautiful brown glass eyes of the stag.

Back of it could be seen a camera shutter.

"One of those new quick shutter cameras," he explained.

Then he ran a couple of wires along the ceiling around the room and into a closet, where he made the connection with a sort of switchboard on which a button was marked, "SHUTTER" and the switch, "WIND FILM."

"Now, Flirty," he said, coming out of the closet and pulling up the shade which let a flood of sunlight into the room, "you see, I want you to stand here—then, do your little trick."

Just then the bell rang.

"That must be Jameson," she cried. "Now—get to your corner."

With a last look Dan went into the closet and shut the door.

Perhaps half an hour later Clutching Hand himself called me up on the telephone. It was he—not the Star—as I learned only too late.

I had scarcely got out of the house, as Craig told me afterwards, when Flirty Florrie told all over again the embroidered tale that had caught my ear.

Kennedy said nothing, but listened intently, perhaps betraying in his face the suspicion he felt.

"You see," he said, "she is still volatile and unpredictable."

"What is that?" he inquired, "she insinuated, very coldly turning away.

Kennedy rapidly began to see that it was far more serious than he had at first thought.

"Very well," he said with a touch of impatience, "if my word is not to be taken—I'll—"

He had seized his hat and stick.

Elaine did not deign to answer.

COMMON SENSE

Longfellow could take worthless pieces of paper and write a poem on it and make it worth $65,000—that's genius. There are some men who could write a few words on a piece of paper and make it worth $8,000,000—that's capital. The United States can take an ounce and a quarter of gold and make it worth $20—that's money. A mechanic can take material worth $5 and make it into watch springs worth $1,000—that's skill.

There is a man in Chicago who can take a fifty-cent piece of canvas, paint a picture on it, and make it worth $1,000—that's art. A Greek can take an article worth 55 cents and sell it for $2—that's business. A woman could purchase a hat for 75 cents but prefers one worth $27.00—that's foolishness.

A duck digger handles several tons of earth for $1.50 a day—that's labor. The editor of this paper can write a check for $9,000,000, but it wouldn't be worth a dime—that's rough. There are people who will tell you that other papers are as good as this—that's nerve. Take $1.00 and get a year's subscription to this paper which for 12 years has done its best to boost the county, city, and do something for you.

No Trouble To Run a Paper.

Just after we finished running off the paper last week, a cheerful party remarked: "Well, the paper is out! You can take it easy for a few days, can't you?" Yep. Nothing at all to do. Abs-LOOT-ly nothing. Once the paper is printed all any editor has to do is to sit around watching the little bills come due, and gently shaking his money bush until enough dollars drop off to pay those, these or them bills. When the editor is not running off the paper his favorite pastime is to recline on a divan, smoking a fine, full-flavored cigar, and watch his subscribers struggling with each other to get on his list and pass the furthest in advance. If he becomes overwaxed, he puts out his cigar, slips it in his pocket and saunters nonchalantly down the boulevard de Main, just to hear the merchants clamor for additional space as with tears in their eyes they dog his footsteps. And the way the news hounds up the editor is pleasant to contemplate. When the paper is out the editor goes to his desk, leans back in his chair, looks wise and waits till the day before next press day, when the people line up in front of his office and then pile past his desk and tell him all the news of the week. He writes it up in ten or fifteen minutes and hangs it on the hook. The compositors shake the copy over the cases and say a few mystic words and the type flies into place and after a few passes by the foreman the forms are ready for the press again and the editor goes down and deposits some money in the bank. It's the greatest snap in the catalogue. Now if the editor could only do away with press days his joy would be complete.

Editors Prices For "Puffs."

An eastern editor comes to the conclusion that those desiring "puffs" in his paper must pay for them, and has established the following prices:

For telling the public that a man is a successful citizen, when every body knows that he is as lazy as a hired man, $2.00.

Referring to the deceased citizen as one who is mourned by the entire community, when we know he will only be missed by the poker circle, $10.15.

Referring to some gallavanting female as an estimable lady whom it is a pleasure to meet, when every business man in town would rather see Satan coming, $8.10.

Calling an ordinary pulpit orator an eminent divine, 60 cents.

Sending a doughty sinner to heaven, $5.00.

Referring to a deceased merchant who never advertised in his life as a progressive citizen, $1.00.

General News

The month of March just passed goes on record as being the second coldest March for forty-three years.

Twenty-seven cases of well developed small pox are reported from Quicksand, near Jackson. The cases developed within three and four days of each other.

A London syndicate has offered a purse of $20,000 for a fight between Jess Willard, who won the championship over Johnson last Monday, and Frank Moran, of Pittsburgh. Moran was defeated by Johnson in Paris on June 27, of last year.

John Williams, 50 years old, shot and it is believed mortally wounded his son, Ed Williams, 19 years old, at Bardstown. When Williams had realized what he had done, he made an attempt to kill himself, but was prevented from doing so by a physician.

Aron S. Ashbrook, age 12 years, of Cynthiana, saved the lives of his mother, grandmother, two sisters and his uncle, when they were trapped in the second story of their burning home last Tuesday. The escape by means of the stairway was cut off and the little fellow leaped from the second story window and ran to a nearby barn and got a ladder which he placed at a window so the inmates could make their escape.

HAVE YOU CATARRH?

It's a Dangerous Disease—Hymoel Is The Effective Remedy.

Catarrh, which is indicated by sniffing, frequent colds and crusts in the nose is a serious disease and if not checked, surely spreads to the delicate lining of the air passages, and frequently destroys the lungs.

To cure catarrh you must have something that will quickly reach the diseased tissues, kill the germs and drive out the poisons.

Hymoel is just such a remedy. Being a mixture of antiseptic oils that you breathe through a small inhaler its health-restoring medication cannot help going direct to the raw and inflamed lining of the nose and throat, quickly relieving that choked up feeling, stopping the unclean discharges, and healing the sore spots—you breathe freely. Even the worst cases respond at once.

The Fiscal Court redeemed and destroyed $17,000 worth of the old railroad bonds. This Court has made a record for bond burning, and it has succeeded in paying off the floating indebtedness of the county to the extent of $38,000. There is nothing for the treatment of castor oils that is easier, more pleasant or so satisfying as Hymoel. B. L. Middleton sells it on the "No-cure-no-pay" plan.—Adv.

WHEN THE FOWLS WON'T LAY

Complaint Is Heard at All Seasons of Year—Ample Supply of Water Is Essential for Eggs.

Every month or so I hear some chicken grower complaining that his hen won't lay, in spite of the fact that they have plenty of fresh water and that the ration is so balanced that it ought to make the hen lay in spite of themselves.

This complaint is heard at all seasons of the year, as well as the man who is trying to make a success of commercial poultry growing. It is serious, too; for the steady, daily production of eggs is the thing that we depend upon to make hen keeping pay. In some flocks it is a well-known chronic complaint, but the owners seem never to be able to discover just why the hens will lay for a month or two at one season and go on a strike for the rest of the year, says a writer in Farm Progress.

Any one of a hundred reasons may be the cause of the failure of the hens to lay when they should and as they should. Take the one reason of old age, for instance. A lot of us manage our birds in such a haphazard way that we are never very sure of just how old all our hens are.

Some people, too, will feed all manner of proper foods and feed them regularly and neglect proper watering. As a hen egg is about two-thirds water, it is very evident that plenty of water of the right kind is one of the materials necessary to produce eggs. Then, too, we sometimes neglect the question of grit or charcoal of egg-laying materials that have to do with shell making and bone strengthening.

In one or two cases that I have noticed the cause of the lack of egg was caused by the dampness and clamminess of the henhouse. Hens neither can nor will lay in a house that is damp and depressing as a cellar.

Overcrowding is another reason why hens fail to lay. If there are not enough nesting boxes or if the floor space or the roosting places seem overcrowded there will be certain falling off in egg production that may be very serious. There is, of course, but one way to remedy this. There must be more room provided or the flock will have to be cut down to fit its quarters without being crowded.

Vermilion is another reason and a big one. Lousy hens will not lay. The vitality is being sucked out of them and the energy that ought to go into egg-making is being taken to nourish a few hundred mites.

When we extend a helping hand there is seldom anything in it.

The fact that they are in the evening of life doesn't prevent a lot of old flocks from trying to make a night of it.

The world is growing better. A silk hat and a frock coat do not count as much as they used to.

When we extend a helping hand there is seldom anything in it.

The fact that they are in the evening of life doesn't prevent a lot of old flocks from trying to make a night of it.

The trade papers are hollering about the famine in dye coloring due to the war, but a man who notices women's faces would never believe that there was any famine.

You know less at fifty than you did at twenty. But what you do know is true.

SECURING A PRIZE WINNER.

It should be remembered that every egg hatched from prize winners will not mature into a prize-winner. You may be surprised to learn that only about one out of every ten chicks hatched from the strongest blood lines in the world matures into a prize winner.

MANY EGGS INFERTILE.

Do not expect too much from the breeder you buy eggs from; eggs may be fertile, but from some unknown cause they fail to hatch. Very often the cause is due to the low vitality of the hen—often the result of irregular temperature if artificially incubated.

CLEANLINESS IS IMPORTANT.

No success can be achieved with poultry without cleanliness!

RHEUMATIC PAINS RELIEVED.

Why suffer from rheumatism when relief may be had at so small cost? Mr. Elmer Hatch, Peru, Ind., writes, "I have been subject to attacks of rheumatism for years. Chewing Foleys Honey and Tar relieves me immediately, and I take pleasure in recommending it to others." 25 and 50 cents a bottle. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

RUNAWAY JUNE

TWELFTH EPISODE.

The Spirit of the Marsh.

CHAPTER I.

A STEAM yawl with black smoke pouring from her smokestack suddenly stopped its churning halfway across New York bay as the principal passenger, a long nosed woman with high arched brows, recognized through a wobbly jolted telescope the leaders in a procession of speedy motorboats which swept rapidly toward her.

"Turn around quick!" the woman ordered as the first motorboat bore down, and she dashed a clatter from her heavy eye. "Here comes the runaway bride!"

"I'm turning her now, ma'am," reported a short, thick individual whose round face was one consecutive smudge. "Don't you hear our engines stopping?"

"There she goes!" screeched Honoria Biye as the long, narrow steel gray boat dashed past, bearing, besides its driver, a beautiful young girl in a yachting costume, protected as much as possible from the flying spray in the arm of a chair with a soft felt hat and a loosely knotted cravat.

"Why, she isn't with my husband!" cried Honoria Biye.

"'Noo,'" confessed Bill Wolf, putting a fresh smudge on his round face as the clatter laden smoke rolled down; "not now." His perplexity cleared. He spied the second boat. "There he comes!"

"'Glibert!' screamed the woman as the second boat shot by, driven by a heavy man with a round head and thick lidded eyes and carrying as its passenger a dark, handsome man with a black Vandyke, whose attention was fixed on the beautiful girl in the forward boat. "Gilly!" The dark, handsome man paid no attention. "You viper!" she shrieked; then she whirled to Bill Wolf. "Why don't you turn this around and chase them?"

"We're turning, ma'am," reported Bill Wolf, looking anxiously at the engineer. "Don't you hear the engine reversing?"

The third boat shot past, driven by a white mustached man in evening clothes. "That's the creature who corrupted my husband!" shrieked Honoria Biye. "He was with Gilbert the night he took his trunk away! You beast!" she screamed, and then she caught sight of the occupants in the fourth boat, a little chanteuse with blazing eyes and the thickest of mustaches and a sultry woman, who beat eagerly forward.

"The maid of the runaway bride!" explained the justly famous detective, Bill Wolf. "Do you notice that we're turning now, ma'am?"

"Ned Warner, the deserted groom" announced Honoria Biye as the fifth boat darted past. Ned held binoculars to his eyes, and they were focused alternately on beautiful June Warner in the arm of the artist and upon the closely pursuing Gilbert Biye. With him, a plump and plaid small man, who drove with unwelcome creases in his brow, and a generously plump young woman, who was half hysterical.

"We're turned, ma'am," said Bill Wolf, clutching Honoria Biye by the elbow. "Don't you see the Federal building?"

On the dock there stood a watchman who consisted of an overcoat and cap.

CHAPTER II.

FURTIVE eyed butler with a young face on the withered and stooped body of an old man admitted the runaway bride and her escort into a magnificently studio hung with rare tapestries, embellished with exquisite paintings, fitted with quaint furniture and objects of art from all over the world. And here June Warner was introduced by Artist Durban to his wife, a bright eyed woman of great charm.

"The Spirit of the Marshes," laughed in a richly furnished office which contained no hint of business except for its telephone and the long rows of push buttons sat Gilbert Biye and Orta Cunningham and T. J. Edwards. In earnest conference, Cunningham sat in his evening clothes, Edwards still with his pajamas buttoned inside his coat and the carpet slippers on his feet. Button after button the black Vandyke man pushed, and one after another silent, stealthily moving, non-communicative men came in and with grave faces received their instructions and departed.

Kentucky Made Vehicles for Kentucky People at Wholesale Factory Prices

Read What Customers Say

James E. Gray, Waterford, Ky., says: "My buggy arrived in Taylorsville safely and without being damaged in shipment. Now, I want to tell you I am well pleased with it. I am sure I could have purchased no such buggy of any other factory or dealer at a price reasonable. It is a very well made and stylish but is a very comfortable one and there is no doubt in my mind but that it will prove to be what you guarantee it to be. I am sure and I am sure that I have shown the buggy agree with me that it is the greatest bargain, and I suspect it will outlast the shortest time until you will be able to get from me part of the money. I am going to do my best to advertise your splendid buggy, for I feel that you have proven a friend to me by sending such a buggy to me and I will do my best to make as many sales as possible to show my appreciation."

T. C. Williams, McDonald, Tenn., writes: "I received my buggy all O. K. and find it is a dandy one and everyone who has looked at it has passed a compliment on it. It is a well-built vehicle and I am sure it will be a great success. I hope that I may be the cause of your selling more in this country."

Edward Thornton, Fox Chase, Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I find my buggy sized up to every feature you claim for it. It is very comfortable. I have ridden 25 miles at a time with no fatigue. I was somewhat pessimistic and did not take some of your strong assurances with me, not having purchased many vehicles from advertisements. From your many, straight-from-the-shoulder correspondence, I was pleased to send you a letter. I am fully convinced your method of doing business has been the secret of your success, and when next in the market for a carriage the order is sure to go to you."

A. F. Carpenter, Wolfston, Va., writes: "I received my buggy the first of September. Since that time I have given it a thorough trial and I am sure it is a good one. I am sure it is a good one. I am perfectly satisfied with it in every respect—in fact, I have seen none that equals it for a much higher price, and I feel I have value received for every cent of my investment."

Edgar M. Hunt, Sanders, Ky., says: "I like my buggy and have had no trouble with it. I have ever seen several people who have seen my buggy talk like they would order a buggy from you in the spring. You can use my name in advertising. I am sending you a copy of my catalog of buggies."

Emory M. McCord, Greenwood, S. C., writes: "We are more than pleased with the buggy you shipped us the first of June, and now it is December 6th, and every one who sees it wants to know where we got it. I have a good many who ask me much we paid for it and they seem to be surprised at the price we paid for such a pretty buggy. A friend bought a new buggy after we had sold ours for $100.00 and he asked me if we had any more ready for another new buggy we will not think of buying from anyone but you. I am sending you names of friends. I do hope you will be able to sell each a new buggy."

Marcus A. Whisler, Jasonton, Ind., says: "Buggy and set of driving harness received the 15th. They were satisfactorily made and must be the best harness and buggy are certainly made with great care, both workmanship and selection of material. I would like for your painter to send me some brown paint, just a very small amount, only to a few places. I never been satisfied by shipping. Any time I can be the cause of an order being sent by my friends, I will consider I have helped both them and yourself."

Lawrence Melugin, R. F. D. No. 1, Reeds, Mo., writes: "I am mailing you a picture of my buggy. It is a very good one, but bought from you some time ago. It isn't a very good picture, but maybe it will give you an idea. You never mind what the pictures cost for the catalog. I am sending you a copy of the catalog. It is a good bargain on that rig that the pictures shall not cost you anything. I am not in the habit of bragging on anyone, but I will when it is worth while."

Yes Sir: We save you all Agents', Dealers', Wholesalers' and Jobbers' profits and commissions—we don't have traveling salesmen to stop at expensive hotels, and travel around on high salaries. Our entire business is conducted by mail—we have eliminated every extra and unnecessary expense. We are giving the vehicle buyers of this country the greatest values ever known. We manufacture right here in our own large factory as high grade vehicles as it is possible to produce and sell them to you at the wholesale price and save you all the "rake-off" of the middlemen.

Here Is How Our Plan Hits the Middleman

We have sold hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of vehicles and harness direct from factory to consumer, and every sale has been a clean-cut straight - from - the - shoulder SMASH between the eyes of some "middleman". We are sorry for this—we regret that our pathway to success should be strewn with wrecked hopes and thwarted ambitions of those who have tried in vain to hold us back. Personally we have nothing against dealers, agents, jobbers, mail order catalog houses and other middlemen, who seek to gather two or three profits, where we are satisfied with one—we are really sorry for them, because they are doing business in the wrong way. A vehicle or set of harness is never worth more than the factory price, and because we save you all the expense and profits of the middlemen, they should not grow peevish and throw things at Bohon, for neither I nor my customers and friends are to blame—it is simply the law of supply and demand at work. Folks will buy where they can get the most for their money. That's the whole matter in a nutshell. Our plan hits the middleman, because the vehicle users of this country have made up their mind to do business in the straight line from factory to user, rather than on the zig-zag line from maker through traveling salesmen, jobbers, dealers, agents or catalog supply houses to user. Is there a reason?

You must either buy directly or indirectly—you must either pay three profits or one profit on your vehicles and harness. When a dealer buys a vehicle, he buys indirectly and absolutely must pay two or more profits before he takes the vehicle from the crate. Now, if you buy of a dealer, you must not only pay these two or three profits, but in addition, you must pay the dealer's profit and also his selling expense extra—four profits in all. When you buy of us, you buy directly—you pay one small profit. Our price to you is less than dealers can buy vehicles for spot cash in carload lots. Don't let the price-boosting middleman throw dust in your eyes—find out for yourself—get the facts, then decide. If you do this, you will surely buy of Bohon and save agents', dealers', jobbers' and salesmen's commission.

Thirty Days Free Road Trial

Life Long Guarantee Backed by Our $30,000 Bank Bond

Every Bohon vehicle is sold on a thirty days' free road trial. We want you to try it as your eyes—submit to any test and then decide whether you want to keep it. Compare it closely point for point with other vehicles in your neighborhood, either in use or offered for sale, and if you are not fully convinced that we have furnished you the best made, the handsomest finished, the easiest riding and the lightest running buggy you ever saw, and if you do not think that by dealing direct with our factory you have saved at least $25.00 to $40.00—if in fact, for any reason you are not perfectly satisfied, and if the vehicle you have selected is represented and in good condition, we will give it back and stand all the loss. If after the trial you keep it—as we know you will—you are absolutely protected against any loss or trouble resulting from defective material or workmanship—for if ever at any time—it matters not when, whether one, two, three, five or ten years—any piece or part proves imperfect, we will replace or repair it free of charge.

As an absolute protection to you, under this guarantee, we have deposited with the Mercer National Bank of this city, one legal banking firm for $30,000.00, and we expect to have underwriting guarantee that the bank did not care what we can be made to forfeit this bond. Just sit and think what this means to buy a vehicle under a life-long, unlimited guarantee, backed by a bank bond. If we did not make as fine vehicles as it is possible to produce—how could we make such an offer?

OUR LARGE MODERN FACTORY

Our large, modern factory is just as up-to-date as any in the United States. We have every facility for manufacturing high-grade vehicles at the lowest cost of production. Please don't confuse our factory with some of the small repair shops here in Central Kentucky that possibly assemble one hundred vehicles in the course of a year, for we manufacture them by the thousands and sell them all over the United States, as well as in many foreign countries. We have every new labor-saving machine, every practical arrangement known. We have here as fine a collection of vehicle builders as was ever gotten together by any firm anywhere. They are men of experience and ability, clean, moral and conscientious—they are men who like their work. Visit our office and factory if you can, and see for yourself how Bohon vehicles are made. Our factory is of personal and vital interest to you and every other vehicle user who wants to know the facts about why and how Bohon makes the best style vehicles, maintains the very highest quality and undersells the world. If every vehicle user in Kentucky really knew the truth and facts about the wonderful values we give—in spite of our already tremendous business—we would have to increase our factory, at least ten to fifteen times in order to supply the demand.

A Nervous Wreck

Had No Desire To Live
Peruna Is A Tonic and Strength Builder So Says

Mrs. Frank Stroobe, R. F. D. 1, Appleton, Wis. Her letter reads:

"I began using Peruna a few months ago when my mind and strength were all gone and I was nothing but a nervous wreck. Could not sleep, eat or rest properly, and felt no desire to live."

"Three bottles of Peruna made me look at life in a different light, as it began to regain my lost strength. While my recovery took nearly four months, at the end of that time I was better than I ever had been before. I had a splendid color and never weighed more in my life."

"I certainly think Peruna is without a rival as a tonic and strength builder, and it has my endorsement."

Mr. Charles Brown, R. R. 4, Box 79, Rogersville, Tenn., writes: "I have tried many different remedies, but have found that Peruna is the greatest tonic on earth, and a perfect system builder."
